

NEW MANAGEMENT AT SMART RECRUITMENT

Smart Group Recruitment Solutions is delighted to announce the new appointment of Simon Thomas to the position of Principal Divisional Manager following Smart Recruitment's continued expansion.

The role has been newly created for Simon, who is no stranger to Smart Recruitment, having previously worked with the pioneering recruitment agency.

Simon comments, "My new role within the organisation is a strategic and operational one as opposed to a sales role. I am working alongside existing divisional managers to aid the operations of the fledging divisions such as the Driving division. I will be also concentrating my efforts on the Construction division initially. Essentially I am here to ensure a healthy start to new business areas ensuring firm foundations for sustained future growth. As the company explores new activity I will be on hand to bed them in and create new opportunities for the benefit of Smart Recruitment long term."

An experienced recruitment professional Simon is well known in the area having lived and worked in Bournemouth for over 20 years. Keen to continue his career within the recruitment industry, Simon chose Smart Recruitment recognising their deserved position as the leading recruitment agency along the south coast.

Helen Stacey, Director of Smart Recruitment comments, "Simon Thomas recently left Fleet Personnel where he was Associate Director for 5 years and Smart are delighted someone as senior and with as much local experience has chosen to further their career with Smart. Simon's decision reflects the reputation which Smart Recruitment has earned over recent years as the best in the business. The existing award winning management team remains firmly in place but Simon's appointment allows us to re-allocate work loads, freeing up some of the senior management team's time for continued forward planning and ongoing diversification plans."

Smart Recruitment is the current winner of the prestigious Dorset Business Awards 'Best Management Team' and recently received star status as a Top 100 Best Company to Work For.

Not only their bulging awards shelf but their pragmatic and enthusiastic approach to business means Smart Recruitment is well placed to advise on recruitment needs both strategically and geographically. Having recently opened an Exeter branch, Smart Recruitment in Exeter can be found at 1 Emperor Way, Exeter Business Park. The recent move sees the forward thinking company extending their presence along the south coast from an existing network of five high street branches which include Poole, Bournemouth, Christchurch, Dorchester and Yeovil.
