

'GRACE' INSPIRES STAFF TO BE SMART

Richard Grace of award winning Smart Group Recruitment Solutions has recently been promoted to Technical Divisional Manager for the forward thinking company. This dedicated family man can be described as an explorer and an energetic go-getter with a head for business. Living by the mantra 'seize the day' and 'be the best you can be' this former engineer fits hand in glove with the energetic Smart Recruitment team and confirms there are many opportunities locally for skilled technical personnel.

Having doubled the business in the Technical division for Smart Recruitment over the past four months, Richard's job may be described as challenging yet rewarding. Richard visits dedicated engineering and technical companies to assess their personnel needs to fill an assortment of specialist positions. With a strong engineering background that included owning his own company for five years, Richard can advise from first hand experience. With prominent clients in Poole and Yeovil, Richard is always on the go and is supported by a strong team. Richard comments, "I'm really lucky to work with such a first-class team at Smart Recruitment. I think we all motivate each other and aim to not only meet but exceed client and candidate expectation."

With prestigious local clients on his books Richard is keen to attract skilled candidates to fill these attractive positions. Richard said "We are keen to fill positions within a company with highly skilled personnel as efficiently as we can. The only frustrating part of my job is how many positions there are for experienced mechanics, electrical mechanics, machine technicians and welders in comparison to the actual shortage of skilled personnel."

Winner of the 2006 Dorset Business Awards 'Best Management Team' category, lead by a truly inspirational team, Smart Recruitment continue to go from strength to strength employing over 60 personnel across their network of five branches across the south coast.
