

Smart Rise to the Challenge

Pioneering Smart Recruitment continue to prove themselves to be above the rest, as staff from the award winning agency recently conquered the three peaks challenge on behalf of the British Heart Foundation. The intrepid team of 7 climbers and two drivers, battled exhaustion and the British weather, to climb the tallest mountains in the UK.

The Smart team had been preparing diligently for the task taking weekly hikes along the South West Coastal Path to build up their fitness. The group were constructed of seasoned climber Dave Nichols, who took his second trip up Ben Nevis, along with fellow climbers Richard Grace, Rob Bruce, Alison Moorwood, Candice Selby, Simon Claridge and Mandy Grant, with drivers Sarah Southern and Joy Burmeister supporting the team.

The Smart team began their adventure, driving up to Fort William, Scotland, to prepare for the task ahead. They climbed 1344 metres to the summit of Ben Nevis, the tallest Mountain in the UK.

After returning from the peak of Ben Nevis, the team travelled to get some well earned rest before facing Scarfel the next morning, at 978m, it is England's highest mountain and is situated in the picturesque Lake District .Once Scarfel was conquered the expedition continued into North Wales where the team successfully climbed Wales' highest mountain, Mt. Snowdon. Smart Team leader Dave Nichols commented on their progress saying, "When it came to Snowdon we were all beginning to ache, but with a combination of team work and determination we succeeded. It was a great feeling to know that we achieved the peaks together and with the help of a donation from Smart and support from our friends and families we raised over £1000 for the British Heart Foundation."

Smart Recruitment has gone from strength to strength in 2007 expanding the company and reaching their highest peak in terms of business performance since their inception in 1999. Employing over 70 staff and increasing their branch network to include Exeter, the dynamic agency has branches in Poole, Bournemouth, Christchurch, Dorchester, Yeovil and now Exeter.
