

Hot dates for Businesses

Back by popular demand, the recent Chamber Business Speed Dating event gave local businesses the chance to make valuable contacts over hot coffee and a bacon bap. Chamber newcomer, Tracey McEwan of Smart Recruitment said “I wasn’t sure what to expect but the ‘speed dating’ format works really well and its surprising how much information you can put across in 2 minutes. I was able to lay to rest some old myths about how recruitment agencies work and also to find out more about other businesses in the area.

Julie Hopkins a Partner at Albert Goodman is an old hand at Business Speed Dating having attended previous events. “ I find it’s one of the best ways to meet as many businesses people as possible in a short time”, she commented. “ I was able to make new contacts and it was also useful to catch up with news from the financial services industries which were well represented here today. A very valuable way to spend an hour! ”
